Reading Comprehension

Q1) Read these texts carefully .

( 10 M )

A man who had broken his right leg was taken to a hospital a few weeks before Christmas . He was afraid of spending Christmas in hospital . Though the doctor did his best ,the patient's recovery was slow . On Christmas day the man still had his right leg in plaster . He spent a miserable day in bed thinking of all the fun he was missing . The following day ; however the doctor comforted him by telling him that his chance of being able to leave hospital in time for new year's celebrations were good . When the man left the hospital he was excited and sure enough on New year's Eve he was able to walk with the help of a stick to a party . The man enjoyed himself completely and kept telling everybody how much he hated hospitals . He was still saying something about hospitals at the end of the party when he slipped on a piece of ice and broke his left leg .

Reading Comprehension (20 M.)

Q1) A-Read this text carefully .

( 10 M )

Smoking is considered to be dangerous to the health, it is especially difficult for children. Our tobacconist, Mr. Kamal, has always been careful about this. If his customers are very young, he always asks them whom the cigarettes are for. One day ,a little girl walked boldly into his shop and demanded twenty cigarettes. She had the exact amount of money in her hand and seemed very sure of herself. Mr. Kamal was so surprised by her confident manner that he forgot to ask his usual question. Instead, he asked her what kind of cigarettes she wanted. The girl replied promptly and handed him the money . While he was giving her the cigarettes, Mr. Kamal said laughingly that as she was so young, she should hide the packet in her pocket in case a policeman saw it. However, the little girl didn't seem to find this very funny. Without smiling, she took the packet and walked towards the door. Suddenly she stopped and looked steadily at Mr. Kamal and declared "My dad is a policeman" and with that she walked quickly out of the shop.

Now answer ( FIVE ) of the following questions :

A professor of medicine wanted to test his students who were about to be doctors . He told them that in order to be good doctors there were two things most important for them One was to observe well and carefully and the other was not to be disgusted at unpleasant things . Infront of him was a bowl of dirty dish – water with a bad smell . To test them , he put a finger first in the water and then in his mouth and asked them all to do the same thing . In spite of the unpleasantness of the water , the students came up one by one and put a finger in the water and then in the mouth bearing the unpleasant test as they could . At the end of it all the professor said " I must congratulate you on all having one of the qualities necessary , but one alone . You do not let horrible things disgust you , but neither unfortunately , do you observe carefully, or you would have noticed that I put my second finger in that water , it was the third one that I put in my mouth. Mary and her husband Harry lived in a tiny village . One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given her . One evening the lamb was missing .The rope had been cut , so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen . When Harry came in from the fields , his wife told him what had happened , so he set out to find the thief . After telling several of his friends about the theft , Harry found out that his neighbour , Bert had suddenly acquired a new lamb . Harry immediately went to Bert's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb . He told him he had better return it or he would call the police . Bert denied taking it and led Harry into his back-yard . It was true that he had just bought a lamb , he explained , but his lamb was black . Harry apologized to Bert for having accused him . While they were talking , it began to rain and Harry stayed in Bert's house until the rain stopped . Unseen Passage. (10 M.)

Q1/ A. Read the following article then answer five of the following questions.

A few years ago, if a new electronic item broke down, most people took it to a repair shop. Not anymore! These days, if a new item breaks, more and more people simply throw it away and buy a new one. Why have we become a throwaway society? The easy answer is price. You can buy a TV for $99, but what if breaks? If a major part needs to be replaced, it could cost more than the price, so the TV would cost more to repair than to replace. Some repair shops have a minimum charge of $25 just to look at a crashed computer. Are they making millions of dollars? No. A recent survey found that more and more repair shops are closing because they cannot afford to stay in business. In 1992 there were more than 20,000 repair shops in the United States; by 2004, there were fewer than 9000. But price is not the only reason. According to a repair shop owner, customer psychology has changed. 'It is a disposable society.....people want the newest and the hottest.' the only way to change it is to make it expensive to throw things away, but we do not do that until the mountains of rubbish are so high we can't breathe.

1. What do people do if an electronic item breaks down?
2. What makes people dispose their broken items?
3. In the last twenty years, the number of repair shops..... (increased, decreased, stay the same)
4. How can we prevent people from throwing away their broken items?
5. Why are some repair shops closing?
6. Choose the suitable title .a. Repair...don't replace b. Low prices cause mountains of rubbish.

Unseen passage

Q1/ A. Read the following story.

An important businessman went to see his doctor because he could not sleep at night. The doctor examined him carefully and then said to him, 'Your trouble is that you need to learn to relax. Have you got any hobbies?' The businessman thought for a few moments and then said, 'No, doctor, I haven't. I don't have any time for hobbies.' 'Well,' The doctor answered, 'That is your main trouble, you see you don't have time for anything except your work. You must find some hobbies, and you must learn to relax with them, or you'll be dead in less than five years. Why don't you learn to paint pictures?' All right, doctor, 'The businessman said. Q.1 / A. Read this text carefully then answer ( 5 ) of the following questions.

( 10 M.)

A famous writer who was visiting Japan was invited to give a lecture at a university to a large group of students. As most of them couldn't understand spoken English, he had to have an interpreter. During his lecture he told an amusing story which went on for rather a long time. At last he stopped to allow the interpreter to translate it into Japanese, and was very surprised when the man did this in a few seconds, after which all the students laughed loudly. After the lecture, the writer thanked the interpreter for his good work and then said to him " Now please tell me how you translated that long story of mine into such a short Japanese one." "I didn't tell the story at all," the interpreter answered with a smile. " I just said, " " the honourable lecturer has just told a funny story. You will all laugh, please. "

1. Did the famous writer speak Japanese well?

Reading Comprehension ( 20 Marks )

Q1) A) Read this text carefully then answer ( 5 ) of the questions that follow:

( 10 M )

At last firemen have put out a big forest fire. Since then, they have been trying to find out how the fire began. Forest fires are often caused by broken glass or by cigarette ends which people carelessly throw away. Yesterday the firemen examined the ground carefully, but were not able to find any broken glass. They were also quite sure that a cigarette end did not start the fire. This morning, however, a fireman accidentally discovered the cause. He noticed the remains of a snake which was wound round the electric wires. In this way, he was able to solve the mystery. The explanation was simple but very unusual. A bird had snatched up the snake from the ground and then dropped it on to the wires. The snake then wound itself round the wires. When it did so, it sent sparks down to the ground and these immediately started a fire.

1. What caused the fire?
2. Who has just solved the mystery?
3. Were the firemen able to put out the fire?
4. The fire was caused by a cigarette end. ( True / False )

( 10 M.)

Newspaper in Japan recently reported that tests show that the average Japanese teenager is significantly weaker than the average teenager forty years ago. At the same time newspapers in England carried similar story. In both countries, the same four things are identified as the causes. The first one was too much television. The second was too much food and the third was not enough exercise. However the fourth cause was the computer games. Doctors found that children who spend a lot of time playing electronic games are fatter than those who do not. These children tend to eat more sugar and fat and that many of them get too little exercise to burn up these things. This is not the only thing, some children steal money from parents and school mates to buy games. The head of a primary school also claimed that many children steal each other's lunch, money for the same reason. Last but not least, children who play these games may suffer from pains in their wrist, elbow and shoulders.

Q.1/ A. Read the following text carefully then do ( 5 ) of the questions follow.

( 10 M.)

Dear sir,

I have recently become very worried about my 16 years – old son, Nick. Although he was never brilliant in school, he always used to get reasonable good marks. But now his work has become so bad that his teachers say he is wasting his time there. He used to be such a good swimmer that he won several prizes. But now he has given up training. And instead of the neat clothes he used to wear, all he ever puts on is the same pair of old jeans and a dirty sweater. But that doesn't all - last Sunday, I got up early than usual. Nick was in the kitchen. The radio was on so loud that he didn't hear me come in behind him. My hand bag was on the table. He had taken some money out of it and about to put it in his pocket. We had a terrible fight. Finally, he broke down and told me everything. He has been going every day to a big amusement shop near his school and play electronic games. I had always thought they were harmless. But now I realize that he's so keen on them, he'll even steal from his own mother in order to pay for the habit. He has promised he won't go there again, but I think he can't stop it even if he wanted to, he couldn't and he doesn't. What can I do to help him?

1. Why was the mother worried about her son?
2. What did Nick steal?
3. What is Nick keen on?
4. Nick saw his mother coming into the kitchen. ( True / False )
5. Where did Nick spend his money?
6. A good title is: a. Bad habit b. Electronic games

Q.1 / A. Read the following text carefully then answer ( 5 ) of the following questions. ( 10 M.)

Water is the most important liquid on Earth. We can't live without it. Without water we will die of thirst. Three – quarters of our planet is covered by water. Most is in oceans, seas and rivers. Some is frozen and forms ice caps at the North and south poles. Water goes round and round in a process called the water cycle. Clouds in the sky contain water as a gas – water vapour. This gas becomes liquid and falls to Earth as rain or snow. The rain brings water to seas, rivers and lakes. Water also goes into the soil and it is taken up by plants. Like all animals, you need water to stay alive. Your body loses water when you breathe or sweat. You can go for many weeks without food, but if you go for three or four days without water, you could die. Plants, too, need water to live. It is therefore necessary that we make use of our water carefully. We must try not to pollute the water sources in the world. We should also use water wisely so that there will be enough of it left for our future generation.

1. What is the water cycle?
2. Three quarters of our planet is covered by water. ( True / False )
3. When does your body lose water?
4. What do clouds in the sky contain?
- 5) Why is water very important to us?

Mr. Brown used to travel by train and always liked more comfort. So, when he got into a train, he used to put his suitcase on the seat beside him and pretend it belonged to another passenger who had gone to buy something. One day he did this when the train was very crowded. Other passengers came and sat on the other seats, except the one that his suitcase was lying on. Then, an old man arrived, looked at Mr. Brown's suitcase and said " Is this somebody's seat? " " yes ", answered Mr. Brown. " A friend of mine is travelling with me, and he has gone to buy a newspaper. He will return soon." Mr. Brown opened the window and looked out to make the old man think that he was anxious about his friend. " All right ", said the old man. " I will sit here until your friend comes back, and then I'll stand somewhere. " Mr. Brown could say nothing and all the other passengers were watching and listening. Several minutes passed, the whistle blew, and the train began to move. Mr. Brown's friend didn't come back. The old man jumped and said, "I'm sorry, your friend seems to have missed the train. We don't want him to be separated from his suitcase. So, I'll throw it out of the window" .

Some plays are so successful that they run for years on end. A famous actor was once cast in the role of an aristocrat who had been imprisoned for twenty years. In the last act, a jailer would always come on to the stage with a letter which he would hand it to the aristocrat. The aristocrat always insisted that the end should be written out in full. One night the jailer decided to play a joke on his colleague to find out if he had managed to learn the content of the letter by heart. The curtain went up on the final act of the play. The aristocrat was sitting alone behind bars in his dark cell. The jailer appeared with the letter and handed it to the aristocrat. But the copy he gave him had not been written out as usual. The letter was simply a blank sheet of paper. The jailer looked on eagerly to see if his fellow actor had at last learned his lines. The aristocrat said " The light is dim. Read the letter to me." The jailer replied " The light is indeed dim. I must get my glasses." With this, he hurried off the stage. Then the jailer returned a few moments later with a pair of glasses and the usual copy of the letter which he proceeded to read to the aristocrat.

1. What would the jailer bring to the aristocrat in the last act?

( 10 M.)

There were once two brothers who worked together on their father's farm. They were both honest, hard-working men and they got along together very well. One day their father died and in his will he left the farm and all his property to his two sons. However, in his will the father wrote that the two brothers should divide the property between them. The two brothers were unable to agree about a division of the property. Each one wanted to have the better part for himself. At last, they quarrelled and for some months they didn't speak to each other. Finally, they took the case to Paul Henry, a judge in the section in which they lived in Wales. Henry was well known for always being good at deciding such matters. He listened carefully as each one of them presented his argument. " The matter is very simple " , Henry said " We shall divide the property in this way. One of you will divide the property in the way that he thinks is best and the other one will then have the right to choose which ever of the two parts he prefers. " In this way the case was settled.

How does television affect our lives? It can be very helpful to people who carefully choose the shows that they watch. Television can make us know more about the outside world; there are good programmes that help us understand many subjects: Science, medicine, the arts, and so on. Moreover, television helps the old and the sick who can't leave the house or the hospital. It also gives learners of a foreign language lots of chances to practise the language and improve their vocabulary and listening. On the other hand, there are several serious disadvantages to television. Of course, it gives us a pleasant way to relax and spend our free time, but in some countries people watch television for over six hours a day. Many children watch TV for more hours each day than they do anything else, including studying and sleeping. It's clear that television has a powerful influence on their lives and that its influence is often very bad.

1. What is the benefit of television for foreign language learners?
2. Television gives us information about the world around us. ( True / False )
3. What is one of the disadvantages of television?
4. How can television help the old and sick people?

John lived with his mother in a rather big house, and when she died, the house became too big for him so he bought a smaller one in the next street. There was a very nice old clock in his first house, and when the men came to take his furniture to the new house. John thought, " I'm not going to let them carry my beautiful old clock in their truck. Perhaps they'll break it, and then mending it will be very expensive." So he picked it up and began to carry it down the road in his arms. It was heavy, so he stopped two or three times to have a rest. Then suddenly a small boy came along the road. He stopped and looked at John for a few seconds. Then he said to John, " You're a stupid man, aren't you? Why don't you buy a watch like everybody else? "

Fareed was the son of a farmer. His father's farm was poor, and Fareed worked on it for a long time, but then his father died. Fareed said " I needn't stay there now. I'll sell this farm and buy one in a better place. Then I'll soon be rich." He bought a farm in the north of the country, but then his new neighbours said to him, " The weather's often very bad here. The wind's very strong, and it breaks windows and doors. You must build a room under the ground, and then you and your family can go down there, and you'll be safe from the wind." So Fareed built a room under the ground. It was a lot of work, because the ground was hard. But after that, the weather was good for a very long time. There was no wind, and Fareed spoke angrily. He said, " Why did I listen to my neighbours? I didn't have to make that room under the ground. The wind never blows strongly here. " But then one day there was a very strong wind, and Fareed and his family had to go down into their room under the ground. They were there for a long time. Then the wind stopped, and they came up. All the windows and doors in their house were broken. Fareed was not angry about his work now. He smiled happily and said " Ah! I'm glad I built that room! "

1. What was Fareed's father?
2. Why did Fareed leave his father's farm?
3. What did the wind do to Fareed's house?

Whitebridge was a small village, and old people often came and lived there. Some of them had a lot of old furniture, and they often did not want some of it, because they were in a smaller house now, so every Saturday morning they put it out , and other people came and looked at it, and sometimes they took it away because they wanted it. Every Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Morton put a very ugly old bear's head out at the side of their gate , but nobody wanted it. Then last Saturday, they wrote, " I'm very lonely here. Please take me. " On a piece of paper and put it near the bear's head. They went to the town, and came home in the evening. There were now two bears' heads in front of their house, and there was another piece of paper. It said, " I was lonely too. "

( 10 M.)

Old Sally Gibbs was a very strange woman. The fine house in which she had lived overlooked a lovely valley. But she hardly ever went out. Though a servant looked after her, her only real companions were two cats. For years she had refused to see any of her relations as she felt that all they were interested in was her money. In this she was right. After her death, the few relations she had gathered at the house to hear Sally's lawyer read her will. They were all sure that Sally had left a great fortune and they each demanded a share. This led to violent arguments. In particular, they quarrelled about the house. Sally's nephew felt that it should go to him as he was one of the few people who used to visit his old aunt before she cut herself off from her relations. Sally's cousin objected to this and there was an angry scene in the living - room while they waited for the lawyer to arrive. When the lawyer entered, the nephew said jokingly that his aunt had probably left hundreds of debts. The lawyer did not even smile at this and asked them all to sit down. He began to read the will in a solemn voice. Sally had indeed been very rich, but she had left the whole of her fortune to her two cats!

1. Did Sally Gibbs wish to see any of her relations while she was alive?
2. With whom did Sally prefer to live?
3. Why did Sally's relations come to her house after her death?
4. Did they quarrel violently among themselves?
5. What did they learn when the will was read out?

Q1. A. Read this text carefully then answer ( 5 ) of the questions that follow. ( 10 M.)

Food is one key to a comfortable life. We eat vegetables and fruit. We also eat animal products like milk , eggs and meat. Food is necessary for us to live, move and work. To be useful, it should be organized with correct amounts. Food can be in different groups. A group of food gives us power. A second group gives us vitamins. A third group builds our body. The way we feel may be the result of the kind of food we eat. We may feel happy when we eat chocolate. We may feel sleepy when we eat fat rich food. We may be upset when we eat the food we don't like. Food is essential, but we should choose the food that is healthy and belongs to different groups.

1. What do we eat?
2. Why is food necessary?
3. Food is one key to a comfortable life. ( True / False )

When George Jones finished college, he became a clerk in a big company, hoping to advance to higher positions as time went on. He did his work reasonably well, but he wasn't very smart, so when the older employees retired from higher positions, it was never Jones who was promoted. After he had been with the company for fifteen years without ever being promoted, a smart young man, straight from college, came to work in the same department, and after a year, he was promoted above Jones. Jones was angry that he hadn't been promoted instead of this young man, so he went to his manager and said, " I've had sixteen years' experience on this job, yet a new man has been promoted over my head after having been here only one year." " I'm sorry, Jones," answered the manager patiently, " but you haven't had sixteen years' experience; you've had one year's experience sixteen times. "

1. What job did George Jones get after leaving college?
2. What was his ambition?
3. Why didn't he get promoted?
4. Who joined the same department fifteen years after him?
5. Why did Jones go to see the manager?

Whitebridge was a small village, and old people often came and lived there. Some of them had a lot of old furniture, and they often did not want some of it, because they were in a smaller house now, so every Saturday morning they put it out, and other people came and looked at it, and sometimes they took it away because they wanted it. Every Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Morton put a very ugly old bear's head out at the side of their gate, but nobody wanted it. Then last Saturday, they wrote, " I'm very lonely here. Please take me. " On a piece of paper and put it near the bear's head. They went to the town, and came home in the evening. There were now two bears' heads in front of their house, and there was another piece of paper. It said, " I was lonely too. "

The computer is one of the most important inventions of the modern world. Computers were huge and very expensive so no one could buy them. Now they are much smaller and there is a computer in almost every house. The strange thing about computers is that they are developing all the time. Computers help doctors to know the diseases in order to decide the best medicine. They also help scientists to solve complicated problems. Pilots use computers to help them know their directions. Teachers also use them to make lessons interesting. Students can use computers to find the information they need. However, most young people use them for playing games.

Mr. Harris used to work in Dover, but then he changed his work, and he and his wife moved to another town. They did not have many friends there at first, but they soon met a lot of interesting people, and after a few weeks, they often went to dinner or to parties at other people's houses. Then Mrs. Harris said to her husband, " We've been to a lot of other people's houses, and now we must invite them to our house, mustn't we? " " Yes, Certainly, " answered her husband. Mr. Harris was beginning to write the invitations when her husband saw that she was writing, " Party: 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. " " That isn't very nice, is it? " he said . " You're telling our guests that they must go at 8:30. So Mrs. Harris just wrote "Party: 6:30 p.m. " A lot of guests came, and they all had a good time, so they did not go home at 8:30. In fact they were still there at midnight when the door bell rang and a policeman arrived. He said, " You must stop making a noise, because someone has complained . Mr. Harris said he did not want to quarrel with the policeman, so everyone went home. They were sorry to have to go. When Mr. and Mrs. Harris were alone again, she said to him. " That was a surprise, wasn't it? Who complained about the noise? " "I did, " Mr. Harris answered in a tired voice.

Millions of people are attacked by a secret enemy which causes more harm and greater suffering than any other disease. Its name is worry. According to doctors, worry can actually cause organic disease, and even when it does not, it can eat up our energy in many ways, ruin our health and make life miserable. Worry is a very dangerous enemy. The stress of life may make us worry about silly things. Worry affects nearly everybody in society from teenagers to elderly people. Students worry about their exams. Parents worry about their children. Young men and women worry about their future life. Needless to say, worry is the result of thinking in a wrong way. It is a fact that thinking over worries brings about more worries. We must face life as it is bravely. The problems a worrier faces are the same that the others face. To overcome worry, cultivate different interests, develop contact with a large number of people and spend your leisure in a useful hobby. When feeling worried, retire to a quiet corner and relax.

Q1. A/ Read this text carefully then answer ( 5 ) of the questions that follow. ( 10 M.)

Mr. Smith left his car outside his house one night, as usual, but when he came down the next morning to go to his office, he discovered that the car wasn't there. He called the police and told them what had happened, and they said that they would try to find the car. When Mr. Smith came home from his office that evening, the car was back again in its usual place in front of his house. He examined it carefully to see whether it had been damaged, and found two theater tickets on one of the seats and a letter which said " we're very sorry. We took your car because of an emergency." Mr. Smith realized that the robbers planned to rob his house while he was in the theater with his wife. He had phoned the police and told them about the robbers' plan. The robbers went out at night to show that he accepted the invitation. When they came, the police were waiting for them.

An artist went to a beautiful part of the country for a holiday and stayed with a farmer. Every day he went out with his brushes and painted from morning to evening , and then when it got dark, he went back to the farmer's house and had a good dinner before he went to bed. At the end of his holiday, he wanted to pay the farmer, but the farmer said, " No, I don't want money, but give me one of your pictures. What is money? In a week, it will all be finished, but your painting will still be here. " The artist was very pleased and thanked the farmer for saying these kind words about his paintings. The farmer smiled and answered, ' It is not that. I have a son in London. He wants to be an artist. When he comes here next month, I'll show him your picture, and then he will not want to be an artist any more, I think. In fact, an artist is born, not made. "

Reading Comprehension: (20 Marks)

Q1. A/ Read this text carefully then answer (5) of the questions that follow. (10 M.)

A lady, who owned a large and beautiful cat, received a present of a canary from a friend. The cage of the canary was hung in her bedroom. When the cat was not there, the cage was opened and the canary was allowed to fly about the room. One day, when the cage was opened, the cat somehow got into the room without being noticed. When the lady came in, she was surprised to find her cat and the bird became best friends; and after this they passed hours playing together. One day, while they were playing, the cat seized the canary in its teeth, jumped upon the bed with it and looked as if it was going to eat the bird. The lady thought that her bird was lost, but while she was looking round with surprise, she saw a strange cat in the room. This explained why her cat seized her canary. It was to protect the bird from the strange cat.
